Your abstract for the business plan should have the following points:

1. Business Summary:

The business plan must summarize your idea, the potential market for your business and its feasibility. It should give a brief idea about how you intend to finance your plan and market it to customers and investors.

2. Market Analysis: Analyzation of the potential market for your business plan. Give a study or research of the market showing why your plan will be well accepted.

3. Company Description: It is Part 3 of the business plan. Without going into detail, this section should include a high level look at how all of the different elements of your business fit together. The company description section should include information about the nature of your business as well as list the primary factors that you believe will make your business a success.

4. Organization & Management: In this section show about the organization of your company, different levels of hierarchy, and how the different parts of the work will be divided among the different teams. Also decide the qualification and experience you require from the people you recruit to make your organization effective.

5. Marketing & Sales Management: It is Part 5 of your business plan. Marketing is the process of creating customers, and customers are the lifeblood of your business. In this section, the first thing you want to do is define your marketing strategy. There is no single way to approach a marketing strategy; your strategy should be part of an on-going business-evaluation process and unique to your company.

6. Service or Product Line: Describe the product or service that you are offering, in this section. Describe in detail the utility or usefulness of your product or service for the customers. Also tell why it will be preferred over similar products.

7. Funding Request: The Funding Request is Part 7 of your business plan. In this section, you will request the amount of funding you will need to start and then further expand your business. Describe in detail how the money funded will be allocated to various sectors of your business.

8. Financials: Financials is Part 8 of your business plan. The financials should be developed after you've analyzed the market and set clear objectives. Show how the money earned will be utilized and how you will manage in case losses are incurred.

9. Appendix: The Appendix is Part 9 of your business plan. This section should be provided to readers on an as-needed basis. In other words, it should not be included with the main body of your business plan. Your plan is your communication tool; as such, it will be seen by a lot of people. Some of the information in the business section you will not want everyone to see, but, specific individuals (Such as creditors) may want access to this information in order to make lending decisions.

In the end, your business plan should answer these.....

- Is the business opportunity you presented practical/realistic?
- Is the plan clear and well-written?
- What is the estimated initial capital investment needed?
- Any reference to the past ventures of this kind that succeeded?
- Who will be the target customer(s)?
- How long will it take from the current stage of development to bring the product to its market?
- Does the team have a clear plan for spending the investment money it receives?
- What is the expected time and amount of pay-off to investors?
- Is the plan sustainable to competition?
- Can this venture achieve an apex position in its market?
- Why will the business still be in demand after a few years?
- Did you think of protecting your business' Intellectual Property assets?
